

UNIVERSITY HOUSING

<http://www.housing.calpoly.edu/>

University Housing provides an inclusive living experience for more than 8,000 Cal Poly students. Engaging programs, led by professional staff and peer leaders in diverse Residential Learning Communities, provide a foundational experience that supports Learn by Doing, encourages excellence, and promotes student success.

Because students who live on campus have greater success in college, Cal Poly requires all first-year students to live on campus.* Depending on their College or program, some students are required to stay on campus for a second year. View the University Housing (<https://housing.calpoly.edu/two-year-residential-program/>) website for more information on the Two-Year Housing Program. All campus residents have access to academic, social, wellness and awareness events and enjoy opportunities to build life-long friendships.

First-year students who do not intend to live on campus may request an exemption. Exemptions from the residential requirement are considered based upon the first-year On-Campus Living Exemption Policy.*

Residential Learning Communities (RLC)

Every resident is part of a Residential Learning Community. RLCs are intentionally designed to respond to the specific academic and social needs of resident students. Students benefit from established learning outcomes and initiatives that support and expand upon their academic experience. Different RLCs are offered to meet the unique needs of first-year, transfer and continuing students. Students can choose RLCs based on their academic college, co-curricular interests, culture and identity or gender-inclusive preferences. View the complete list of RLCs here (http://www.housing.calpoly.edu/content/res_life/learning-communities/).

Residential Student Experience Staff

RLC programs and activities are administered by Coordinators of Student Development (CSDs)—full-time, live-in professionals who assist residents with getting involved on campus, general referrals, upholding community standards and building a community environment where students live. The CSDs also oversee the Resident Advisors (RAs). Resident Advisors (RAs) are the face and voice of University Housing for students living on campus.

RAs live with and develop positive relationships with every resident in their community. RAs role model the Mustang Way, promote a safe and comfortable living environment, develop community among their residents and staff, and are committed to every student's personal and academic success.

Student Leadership

Student representatives are elected in fall term to serve on community councils (governing boards) in each of the halls and apartments. Participants contribute to their hall's community by planning social, recreational, and educational events, and voicing student-related concerns. The Inter Housing Council is the umbrella student government organization for all the Community Councils.

Residential Technology

Residents have access to technology amenities that support student success in the residential communities. All campus rooms have 24/7 access to the Cal Poly Network and wireless Internet services, including support for academic success and personal connectivity, with a focus on delivering the latest network standards. Additional services include common room media centers, digital signage, TV/streaming media services, and access to a comprehensive Housing Portal to manage your residential service offerings. A current listing of technology services available to residents, including FAQs, can be found here http://www.housing.calpoly.edu/content/res_life/learning-communities (http://www.housing.calpoly.edu/content/res_life/learning-communities/).
